SCHOOL REPORT.

The Superintending School Committee respectfully submits the following Report:

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee, { G. W. Marden,
D. Osborn,
E. B. Dodge.

First Dep't, Summer and Fall Terms.

Teacher—Miss SARA O. WETHERBEE, of Rindge.

Miss Wetherbee came to her school an entire stranger, but it did not take the scholars long to become satisfied that she would be mistress. They, to a certain degree, exhibited the energy and activity of their teacher, and the examination showed that progress had been made by the scholars.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. FRED. H. WALES, of Hanover.

The school during this term was quite large. The scholars became prejudiced against the teacher before they had seen him, and the feeling was kept up during the entire term. The register showed a large number of tardy marks. The scholars exhibited at the examination the thorough drill which they had received, but they were not taught enough to rely upon their own exertions.

Second Dep't, Summer and Fall Terms.

Teacher—Miss MARINDA K. PARKER.

Miss Parker has taught the school in this department two terms before the present season, and it is sufficient to say that the discipline and progress of the former terms was fully sustained during these terms.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. DANIEL M. WHITE.

The school during this term was large, and the discipline was good. The examination indicated thoroughness and progress made by the scholars. A little more life and energy would have added to the interest of the examination.

Third Dep't, Summer, Fall, and Winter Terms.

Teacher—Mrs. E. J. HALE.

It seems hardly necessary to say a word in regard to this teacher or her school. She has taught this department so many terms that she has become to be considered by many almost indispensable to the school. We will, however, make one suggestion, which perhaps will not meet the approval of some of the parents. The youngest scholars would be better off at home than in the school room. Their physical natures demand free exercise in the open air, instead of being confined in school rooms with seats poorly arranged for their comfort. It may make less trouble for some of the parents to have these children at school; but it makes more work for the teacher, is a damage to the school, and an injury to the scholar.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential Committee, Mr. Lorenzo Holt.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss CARRIE J. ROBBE.

Miss Robbe has taught school in town several terms. The school, although not very large, appeared well this term, and the scholars made commendable progress.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. WILLIAM P. BACON, of Sharon.

The school appeared well during this term, and the examination was very satisfactory, except in one particular. Some of the scholars did not rely enough upon their own exertions, but trusted too much to their teacher for aid. This is true of some of the other schools.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

Prudential Committee, Franklin Field.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss GERTRUDE E. HALE.

The school was small this term, but it made good progress, and the examination passed off very well.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. FRANK H. HARDISON, of Rindge.

The school was not very large, and the attendance was very irregular, but most of the scholars did well on examination day.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Prudential Committee, Mr. John Q. Adams.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss LOENA E. FAIRBANKS.

This is one of the small schools in town. The scholars made good improvement, and the examination showed that the school had been a success.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Miss EMMA E. GLEASON, of Dublin.

The progress of the school under the charge of Miss Gleason was good, and the examination was satisfactory to those present.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

Prudential Committee, Mr. W. L. Baldwin.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss JOSIE R. HOVEY.

While most of the schools in town are growing smaller, this one is increasing in numbers. The school appeared well on examination, and indicated progress.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Miss MARY J. PARKER.

The school under Miss Parker's instruction was very successful, and the examination did credit to teacher and scholars.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Prudential Committee, Mr. George Wilcox.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss ELSIE E. WILDER.

This was Miss Wilder's second term in this district. She labored faithfully, and the scholars made good progress under her instruction.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. HENRY S. SPALDING.

Mr. Spalding is a native of this district, and the scholars had been his schoolmates. He labored hard, but did not succeed in maintaining that order which is desirable. Next to the last week of school, two of the scholars, Theodore W. Crosby and Walter N. Russell, carried him from the school room, and locked him out. The next morning your Committee visited the school and forbid their attending longer. The school appeared very well at the examination.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Prudential Committee, Mr. Samuel W. Vose.

Summer and Winter Terms.

Teacher—Miss NELLIE THAYER.

This is one of the smallest schools in town, and it is almost impossible to tell how a teacher in one of these small schools would do in a large one. This school appeared well both terms, and the scholars made rapid progress.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Prudential Committee, Mr. Porter B. Weston.

Summer and Winter Terms.

Teacher—Miss ELLA C. WARE, of Hancock.

This is another of the smallest schools in town. The terms were not very long, but the scholars improved the time, and the examination showed that they had made good progress.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Prudential Committee, Mr. Charles S. Pierce.

Summer and Fall Terms.

Teacher—Miss MARTHA R. WILDER.

The school during the summer term was quite large. The fall term was shorter than usual, on account of sickness of the teacher. Both terms were successful, and the scholars made good advancement.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Mr. WALTER J. FROST, of Dublin.

This was the smallest school in this district for many years. The scholars were studious, and the examination proved the thoroughness of the scholars, and the progress made by each one of them.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Prudential Committee, Mr. Preston R. Davis.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Miss EMMA R. SMITH.

This was the only term during the year. The school was larger than it has been for a number of years. The order of the school was good, and the progress made by the scholars was very commendable.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

Prudential Committee, Mr. William T. Lawrence.

Summer Term.

Teacher—Miss JULIA M. BLANCHARD, of Boston.

This was Miss Blanchard's first term, and she did not exhibit quite as much interest in the progress of the school as we had expected. With age and experience, she will probably do better.

Winter Term.

Teacher—Miss LOENA E. FAIRBANKS.

The school was not as large this term as last. The examination showed that the scholars had made good progress during the term, and that it had been a success.

GENERAL REMARKS.

We have a few suggestions to make at the close of this school year. In some of the districts the teacher and parents did not co-operate to sustain good schools. Many at the present time think that corporal punishment should never be inflicted in the school room, but that milder and more agreeable punishments, if any at all, should be imposed. Carry this theory out, and what will become of the discipline in our schools? We have but to visit many of our homes to see illustrated the principle of family government without using force. The parent says, "please do this," and "please don't do that," but those kind words do not cause the child to obey, and if the child understands that, disobey as much as he will, no corporal punishment will be inflicted, he heeds not the kind entreaty, or the more harsh words of his parent. As one drop of ink dropped into a glass of water will discolor the whole, so one unruly scholar will ruin a whole school. Let a teacher, as he enters the school room on the first morning of the school, give the scholars to understand that for no disobedience will he resort to corporal punishment, and how long think you it will be before the teacher will be compelled to ask the scholars if he may do this or that? If corporal punishment was inflicted more in some of our families, the necessity for its use in school would be less. We do not wish to be understood that it should be inflicted for every disobedience. The laws of the State do not hang or imprison a man for life for every crime. We would try by love and gentle means to enforce obedience, but we would at the same time have it understood that if all this kindness should fail, back of it was the rod. The rod, in the hands of a judicious teacher, will enforce obedience sometimes, when kind words fail. In some of our schools the habit of being tardy is becoming altogether too prevalent. What we need to elevate the standard of our schools, is to establish a High School, and so grade the lower schools to this, that there shall be an inducement held out to each scholar to fit himself for this higher school. An established High School not only elevates the standard of our common schools, but is a benefit to a town in various ways. Many men of wealth are induced to settle in a town where there is a prosperous High School, who otherwise would not do it. For the good of our common schools, for the prosperity of the town, and for the benefit of the rising generation, we say by all means establish a High School.

Four persons have failed to comply with the rules, which require all books to be returned on or before the first Monday in March. Fines to the amount of $8 65 have been assessed, but not collected.

Donations of books have been received from the following persons: Mrs. Cochran, three volumes; J. L. Enmons, one volume; Horace Morison, ten volumes; American Unitarian Association, fifteen volumes.

The library has been well kept, and the rules faithfully enforced. No books have been lost during the year, but many of them are much worn, and are greatly in need of repairs. Every year the demand for books increases, and the expense of keeping them in good condition encroaches more and more upon the small sum appropriated by the town for the maintenance of the library. This leaves but a meagre amount with which to procure new books, and for several years the increase of the library has been derived largely from other sources than the town funds. There seems to be no good reason why the expense of repairing books should be taken out of the yearly appropriation, any more than the insurance, or the salary of the librarian. The Committee recommend that hereafter this practice be discontinued. They submit the following resolution for the action of the town.

Resolved, That the selectmen be authorized to defray the cost of repairing the books, and incidental expenses of the Town Library, out of any funds in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.
